Marquis (Queen size)

Arches are a classic in masonry design

There are a number of different brick archways to choose from when designing around window and doorway openings, including jack arches, segmental, semicircular, horseshoe, multi-centered, and many others!

Danish "1776"

When the raw material is pressed into the molds of our "1776" products, voids are left around the edges giving them a more colonial or antique looking appearance than typical molded products.

Add elegance and singularity with shapes

Glen-Gery has the ability to manufacture a large assortment of standard shapes, as well as custom shapes that allow you to create unique aesthetic details and distinctive three-dimensional looks.

50/50 Commons Blend

This extruded product is a blend of two colors (Illini Commons & Marseilles Commons). The style is considered an “Old Chicago Common” with a simulated tumbled texture providing a unique look in a blend of shades from red to buff.

Design Freedom: The ability to be unique

Brick and/or stone selection is among the most important decisions you will make when customizing your home’s appearance. After all, it is your home’s visual foundation. Glen-Gery has the ability to blend nearly any brick or stone products to create a custom look just for you!

Cedar Creek

Brown: A timeless color

Brown is associated with the earth, nature and the spirit of outdoors. More warm than cool, brown companions beautifully with landscaping and cultivates a sense of connection and can range from rustic terracotta and mocha to spicy cinnamon and cedar.

Sonoma Glen Ridge

Earthy brown tones of Sonoma, coupled with the Glen Ridge profile and a brown mortar make for a unique and beautiful application. Glen Ridge can be installed with or without mortar joints.

Stone: The perfect accent for a craftsman style ranch

Glen-Gery stone is suited to the widest possible variety of residential designs. It responds perfectly to the intentions and requirements of virtually any project: rugged and rustic (as shown above), dignified and traditional, or suffused with a domesticated charm. For all its beauty, this product is made to stand up to the rigors of residential use, now and for many years to come.

Chisel Gray Stackstone

The signature look of a stackstone profile, and sophisticated gray tones with hints of rust found in Chisel Gray present a rustic modern look.

The finishing touches

The Landmark Collection of stone offers various accessories including keystone, rowlock and sill pieces as shown here. The combination of accessories completes and complements the masonry work.

The perfect pair

Whether the design intention is to complement or contrast, to emphasize or balance, the pairing of colors, textures and forms in these two materials can yield exceptionally attractive results.

Designing a new 'old' home

Homeowners requested a home that looked 100 years old and was designed to last 200 more. Selecting brick as the primary material was the obvious choice to achieve the desired look.

Patriot with Brown Classic accents

Patriot with Brown Classic accents made the perfect combination of new and old for this stately English Tudor style home!

Avignon HMOS

This white/cream handmade brick is one of our most popular handmade products, which is no surprise—its stunning! Special coatings, layering of shades and its intrinsic translucency distinguishes this product as a warm neutral color.

Designing with shapes

Incorporating standard or custom shapes will focus the attention on the intricate details expected from a home built with Glen-Gery handmade brick.

Sahara HMOS

The subtle range of tans in this product speak volumes. Each brick is prepared and molded by hand for individuality of texture, creating a look that is organic, soft and easy.

Versatility of brick

Utilizing brick in unique ways such as pool surrounds, pillars, walls and outdoor living spaces creates elegance and style.

La Salle and La Salle Thin Brick

A stately Georgian Colonial style home

The all brick exterior of this home has five chimneys, six dormers and many other architectural features. Brick piers rise from the lower level to the main level terrace and are joined by beautiful archways in the rear of the home. The brickwork continues inside in the impressive wine cellar and bar area. The La Salle brick was cut into thin brick for interior work.

Environmentally friendly

Our finely crafted Landmark Collection meets high environmental standards and can contribute to LEED Certification.

San Moritz Fieldstone

Red Colonial (Norman size)

Combining a smooth red color with the long and narrow dimension of a norman size brick delivers a modern style great for indoors and out.

Contemporary-Modern masonry design

Brickwork and contemporary-modern home designs go hand in hand - both evoking clean and simple lines. Homes often have flat or shedline rooflines and a nice amount of glass which both attribute to the simplicity in design.

Cedar Lake Thin Brick

Sonoma Glen Ridge

Combining brick and stone

Glen-Gery stone is especially well suited for use in combination with Glen-Gery brick and other building materials. Whether it constitutes the home's dominant design element, or it is used as a highlight and accent, the results speak to its highly versatile capabilities.

Prescott (Queen size)

Time Tested

Brick's universal appeal is founded on several compelling qualities that are the hallmarks of fine home construction. It is virtually maintenance-free, standing up to the elements year after year with virtually no care required by the homeowner.

Inspired by Nature

Our products embrace our sense of comfort and well-being, and makes us feel connected to the environment in beautiful colors that spring from nature itself: earthy browns; sunny and playful tans; whites muted as a shoreline or brilliantly crisp like a frosted wintry morning; rich and fiery reds, and delicately blushed roses to name a few.

Chelsea (Queen size)

Subtle accents speak volumes

Sills, radials, soldier course and arches framing windows and doorways offer opportunities to mix color and add depth.

53-DD with 56-DD accents

The exquisite shading and sand-finished textures of our genuine molded brick imbue a depth and visual appeal that has no equal.

Buckingham Fieldstone

A beautiful combination of irregular shape and natural stone colors make this one of our most popular products in the Landmark Collection.

Modern farmhouse clad with Glen-Gery stone

Glen-Gery stone homes offer a unique combination of natural beauty and historic style that few others can match. The color combination and detail seen on this modern farmhouse is impeccable, from the masonry all the way down to the landscaping, not a beat was missed when designing this home.

Buckingham LedgeStone
